

THE BOSTON MORNING POST.

PUBLISHED DAILY, AT NO. 21 WATER STREET, BY BEALS & GREENE.—CHARLES GORDON GREENE, EDITOR.

VOLUME VII. NO. 145.

POETRY.

THE BACHELOR'S SONG.

AN ARIETTA FOR THE GUITAR.—FROM THE MASK OF TASSO.

I promised Rosa to be true,
And what is more, I swore it too;
If maidens were as wise as fair,
They'd heed not lovers when they swear.

I wrote on a leaf—the wind it blew,
Away flew leaf and promise too;
So Cupid wings his lightsome way,
When chains, though rusty, court his stay.

The man that yields to Hymen's vows,
Deserves an angel for his spouse;
For what's so sweet o'er earth and sea,
As Nature's boon, dear liberty!

From the New York Mirror.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS, OR NOTES BY THE WAY.

BY NATHaniel P. WILLIS.

Sultan Mahmoud at his devotions—comparative splendor of papal, Austrian and Turkish equipages—the sultan's barge or Caïque—description of the sultan—visit to a Turkish Lancastrian school.

I had slept on shore, and it was rather late before I remembered that it was Friday, (the moisten Sunday,) and that Sultan Mahmoud was to go in state to mosque at twelve. I hurried down the precipitous street of Pera, and, as usual, escaping barely with my life from the christian-hating dogs of Topkapi, embarked in a caïque, and made all speed up the Bosphorus. There is no word in Turkish for faster, but I was urging on my caïkjees by a wave of the hand and the sight of a bishlik, (about the value of a quarter of a dollar,) when suddenly a broadside was fired from the three-decker, Mahmoudier, the largest ship in the world, and to the rigging of every man-of-war in the fleet through which I was passing mounted, simultaneously, hundreds of blood-red flags, filling the air about us like a shower of tulips and roses. Imagines twenty ships of war, with yards manned, and scarce a line in their rigging to be seen for the flaunting of colors! The jar of the guns, thundering in every direction close over us, almost lifted our light boat out of the water, and the smoke rendered our pilote between the ships and among their extending cables rather doubtful. The white cloud lifted after a few minutes, and, with the last gun, down went the flags all together, announcing that the "Brother of the Sun" had left his place.

He had but crossed to the mosque of the small village on the opposite side of the Bosphorus, and was already at his prayers when I arrived. His body-guard were drawn up before the door, in their villainous European dress, and, as their arms were stacked, I presumed it would be some time before the sultan reappeared, and improved the interval in examining the handja-bashes, or state caïques, lying at the landing. I have arrived at my present notions of equipage by three degrees. The pope's carriages, at Rome, rather astonished me. The emperor of Austria's sleighs diminished the pope in my admiration, and the sultan's caïques, in their turn, "pale the fires" of the emperor of Austria. The handja-bash is built something like the ancient galley, very high at the prow and stern, carries some fifty oars, and has a roof over her poop, supported by four columns, and loaded with the most sumptuous ornaments, the whole gilt brilliantly. The prow is curved over, and wreathed into every possible device that would not affect the necessary lines of the model; her crew are dressed in the beautiful costume of the country, rich and flowing, and with the costly and bright-colored carpets hanging over her side, and the flashing of the sun on her ornaments of gold, she is really the most splendid object of state equipage, (if I may be allowed the misnomer) in the world.

I was still examining the principal barge, when the troops stood to their arms, and preparation was made for the passing out of the sultan. Thirty or forty of his highest military officers formed themselves into two lines from the door of the mosque to the landing, and behind them were drawn up single files of soldiers. I took advantage of the respect paid to the rank of Commodore Patterson, and obtained an excellent position, with him, at the side of the caïque. First issued from the door two Georgian slaves, bearing censers, from which they waved the smoke on either side, and the sultan immediately followed, supported by the capitano-pasha, the seraskier, and Halei Pasha, (who is to marry the Sultana Esme.) He walked slowly down to the landing, smiling and talking gaily with the seraskier, and, bowing to the commodore in passing, stepped into his barge, seated himself on a raised sofa, while his attendants coiled their legs on the carpet below, and turned his prows across the Bosphorus.

I have, perhaps, never set my eyes on a handsomer man than Sultan Mahmoud. His figure is tall, straight, and manly, his air unembarrassed and dignified, and his step indicative of the well-known firmness of his character. A superb beard of jetty blackness, with curling moustache, conceal all the lower part of his face; he decides and bold lines of his mouth just marking themselves when he speaks. It is said he both paints and dyes his beard, but a manlier brown upon a cheek, or a richer gloss upon a beard, I never saw. His eye is described by writers as having a doomed darkness of expression, and it is certainly one that would well become a chief of bandits—large, steady, and overhanging with an eyebrow like a thunder-cloud. He looks the monarch. The child of a seraglio, (where mothers are chosen for beauty alone,) could scarce escape being handsome. The blood of Circassian upon Circassian is in his veins, and the wonder is, not that he is the handsomest man in his empire, but that he is not the greatest slave. Our "mother's humour," they say, predominates in our mixtures. Sultan Mahmoud, however, was marked by nature for a throne.

I accompanied Mr Goodell and Mr Dwight, American missionaries at Constantinople, to visit a Lancastrian school established with their assistance in the Turkish barracks. The building stands on the ascent of one of the lovely valleys that open into the Bosphorus, some three miles from the city, on the European side. We were received by the colonel of the regiment, a young man of fine appearance, with the diamond earring and star glittering on the breast of his military frock, and after the inevitable compliment of pipes and coffee, the drum was beat and the soldiers called to school.

The sultan has an army of boys. Nine-tenths of those I have seen are under twenty. They marched in, in single file, and facing about, held up their hands at the word of command, while a subaltern looked that each had performed the morning ablution. They were healthy-looking lads, mostly from the interior provinces, whence they are driven down like cattle to fill the ranks of their sovereign. Duller-looking subjects for an idea it has not been my fortune to see.

The Turkish alphabet hung over the teacher's desk, (the colonel is the schoolmaster, and takes the greatest interest in his occupation,) and the front seats are faced with a long box covered with sand, in which the beginners write with their fingers. It is fitted with a slide that erases the clumsy imitation when completed, and seemed to me an ingenious economy of ink and paper. (I would suggest to the minds of the benevolent, a school on the same principle for beginners in poetry. It would

TUESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 28, 1834.

PRICE $6 PER ANN. IN ADVANCE.

FOR PORTLAND.

The Steamer MACDONOUGH, Capt Howard, takes the place of the Chancellor, Captain, and will run the service, on account of the Commandant Steam Nav. Company leaving Foster's wharf, Boston, as usual, Wednesdays and Saturdays, at 5 P.M.; and Union wharf, Portland, Mondays and Thursdays, at 7 o'clock, P.M.

Inquire at Boston of Messrs. A. J. ALLEN & CO. and I. W. GOODRICH, or J. B. & MIGHILL SMITH, Agents.

CHARLES MOODY, Agent at Portland.

12 Fare, $3, and Found. 41-8 2

BOSTON AND HINGHAM.

One Trip a Day, only, for the remainder of the season. The Steam Packet GEN LINCOLN, will, on and after Monday, October 27, leave Hingham at 3 o'clock, A.M., and Foster's wharf Boston, at 3 o'clock, P.M. oct 25

ARRANGEMENT FOR OCTOBER.

STEAM-BOAT BANGOR, Capt SAMUEL HOWES, will leave for Portland, via Bangor every Saturday evening at 5 o'clock P.M.

Will leave Portland every Sunday evening at 8 P.M. for Bangor, touching at Owl's Head, Starbury Cove, Bucksport and Franklin, and arrive at Bangor early Monday morning.

Returning, will leave Bangor every Tuesday morning, at 7 A.M. for Portland and Boston—arrive at Portland same evening. Will leave Portland every Wednesday morning, at 7 A.M. for Boston

Extra Trip to Portland

Will leave Boston every Thursday evening, at 5 P.M. for Portland.

Returning will leave Portland every Friday evening, 7 P.M. for Boston.

12 All Baggage at the risk of the owner. sept 26-ff THOS. S. WINSLOW, Agent.

WALNUT TIMBER WANTED.—10 or 15 cords of Walnut Timber, of superior quality, suitable for hammer and axe handles, at the Hammer and Edge-tool Factory, Front st. Apply to C. HAMMOND, at the Factory, or No 2, south Faneuil Hall.

Also, 2 first rate workmen at edge-tools, and 2 men to work at handling hammers and axes—apply at the Factory, Front st. 02

ostf

REMOVAL.—WILLIAM GAULT respectfully informs his friends and the public that he has removed from No 67 Congress street to No 6 Elm street, where he will keep constantly on hand, as good a variety of Broadcloths, Cassimere and Vestings, as can be found in any other similar establishment, which he will make into Garments, (in any style or fashion,) at short notice and as cheap for cash as can be purchased in the city.

Also, a general assortment of ready made Clothing, of all descriptions, with a variety of black Italian and plaid Cravats, Pocket Handkerchiefs—Shirt Bosoms and Dickies—India Rubber, Silk and Webbing Suspenders—Stocks—Gloves, &c. copistf July 3

LIVE OAK.—Contracts can be made for furnishing Live Oak Timber for large small vessels; the timber moulded, or not moulded, as may be wanted, on application to JAS. ANDREWS & SON 3 Central wharf. oct 30

FOREIGN LEECHES.—5000 Foreign Leeches, large size, just received and for sale at GEYER'S Apothecary Store, 104 Hanover, junction of Salem st.

Orders from the country for this article promptly attended to. oct 25

LIVER HOLMAN'S Paper, Blank Book and Stationery Warehouse. Nos. 96 and 98 State street, where may be found Paper and Blank Books of every description, together with a variety of fine Stationery, School Books, Charts, and Naval Books.

THE TOKEN AND ATLANTIC SOUVENIR. for 1835—A Christmas and New Year's Present, elegantly bound with 3 Engravings—just published and for sale by B. B. MUSSEY, 20 Cornhill. s 19

FOR SALE.—A valuable Estate, situated on Cambridge street. The House is old and out of repair; but the situation is good, and it may be had at a bargain. Apply to U. JOHNSON CLARK, No 4 Brattle square. July 30

ACCOUNT BOOKS. manufactured of the best paper in the most faithful manner and warranted, are constantly for sale or will be made to pattern by OLIVER HOLMAN, 98 & 99 State street. aug 27

TO MERCHANTS.—A very respectable, middle aged man, with the most undoubted city references, is in pursuit of a situation in some mercantile establishments—apply to J. A. SILLOWAY, 18 Exchange street. istf—o 11

LEMON SYRUP. of very superior quality manufactured and for sale on such terms as to make it an object for purchases to call before buying. A. BOYDEN, Hancock street, aug 15

150 SET JASPER, CORNELIAN AND AGATE EARRINGS.—Just received at WARREN THAYER'S No. 22 Hanover street. Also, a lot of FINGERNAILS, PINS, &c. at reduced prices. may 15

CARSTARSHIAN PENS.—James' Patent Carstarshian Pens, (flexible as the quill) a new article—just received and for sale by OLIVER HOLMAN. 96 & 98 State street.

MATTRESSES. Superior Hair Mattresses, of all sizes, may be had at reduced prices, on application at J. G. FLAGGS, No. 13, corner of Union and Marshall streets. 1st—July 23

SITUATION WANTED.—A young man of respectability and, with good references, wants a situation as Salesman in a wholesale dry goods store. Apply to J. A. SHOLLOWAY, 13 Exchange street. istf—o 13

CHECK MISSING.—Lost, a check signed by Raymond & Plumber, dated Oct. 16, for $64.80 on the Merchants' Bank. The finder by returning the same to this office or at 22 Long wharf shall be suitably rewarded. istf—o 17

ACCOUNT BOOKS.—Constantly for sale by JOHN MARSH: 84 Washington st. Account Books of all the usual patterns made of fine linen paper, and bound in the most approved style. Also, Account Books for the country trade. Albums, Blank Books and Manuscripts for Schools, &c. every description, at the lowest prices. o 11

BUDE BEAR'S OIL.—CHEAP. This article, which is superior to all others for the growth, beauty and preservation of the Hair, is offered for sale at 12 cents a bottle. Also, French Cologne Water, at 8 cents per bottle. At GEYER'S Apothecary Store, 104 Hanover st, corner of Salem street. ff—sept 3

WANTED.—A situation in a wholesale W. I. Goods, by a young man who is well acquainted with the business, writes a good hand and is quick at figures, and can bring good references—apply at No 4 Brattle square. o 22

STOCK FRAMES.—2 cases Stock Frames, just received and for sale by JABEZ HATCH, Jr. 69 Congress st. Also—lot of Pewter Toys. s 16

SPERM OIL.—10,000 gallons Crude Sperm Oil, for sale by JOHN TYLER, at No 9 Central wharf. Imls—o 2

200 PIECES Gauze Bonnet and Cap Ribbons. at the usual low prices, just opened by S. LYNDE, Pemberton Hill. s 25

ACCORDIONS.—Received this day, at W. THAYER'S, No. 22 Hanover street, a few elegant Rosewood Accordions, twelve keys each—for sale low. sept 30

INDIA PAPER.—6 cases, comprising all the variety of colors, and of very superior quality, just received, and for sale by JOHN MARSH, 84 Washington street. oct 1

SILVER COMBS.—A good assortment of Silver Combs, may be found at A. CUTLER'S, No 217 Washington street, opposite Franklin street. sept 25

FRESH ZANTE CURRANTS AND FILBERTS. For sale by JAMES ANDREWS & SON, No. 2, Central Wharf. o 11

SKINNER'S SOLAR STEEL PENS.—A fresh supply of these excellent pens just received, and for sale by OLIVER HOLMAN, 96 & 98 State st. a5

SKINNER'S SOLAR PENS.—A fresh supply just received and for sale by OLIVER HOLMAN, 96 & 98 State street. oct 1

ECHES.—10,000 Foreign Leeches, large size, just received, and for sale at GEYER'S Apothecary Store, 104 Hanover street, corner of Salem st. oct 21

15,000 FIRE BRICK.—Just received and for sale by WM. PERRY & Co. 22 School st. oct 22

HEAD BAGS $2.25 ONLY.—A fresh assortment of Head Bags, fashionable patterns, just received, and for sale by JOHN MARSH, 84 Washington st. o 23

HILL MEN WANTED.—Two or three men of good health are wanted in a Rolling and Slitting Mill—in 97 Milk street. ff—o 21

REAL ERMINIE ROBES.—One very superb real Ermine Robe, warranted perfect, just received, and for sale by E. R. WHITAKER. 2wist—o 24

French Cotton Flannels.—For sale by S. LYNDE, Pemberton Hill. s 25

BLANK BOOKS. of all descriptions, for sale by B. MUZZEX, 29 Cornhill. aug 2

REMOVAL.—KENDALL & KINGSBURY have removed from Liverpool wharf to 17 India wharf. tf—o 18

ANCHOR GIN AND WHALE OIL.—5,000 gallons Whale Oil, with certificate, now landing from brig Arcturus of the first quality, coarse and suitable for grates, warranted equal to the ship Louisa's cargo—will be sold if applied for while discharging. Apply to NEVERS & FRENCH, 65 Purchase street, or W. H. PRENTICE & SON, 43 Purchase street. oct 2

GENTLEMEN. In want of good articles adapted to the present or approaching winter, will do well to call at No 10 Congress street and examine some splendid Cloths, Cambrics and Umbrellas, and Handkerchiefs of all kinds. Tailors' Cloth and Tape Measures constantly on hand by wholesale or retail, at No 10 Congress street, 5 doors from State street. o 20

NOTICE.—The business heretofore transacted by the subscribers in the city of New Orleans, under the firm of ASA D. GOVE, is this day dissolved.

ASA D. GOVE, WASHINGTON MUNROE, DANIEL DRAPER, Boston, October 8, 1834. o 13

250 CHALDRONS. Newmarch's Wallend Coal Chaldrons with certificate, now landing from brig Arcturus of the first quality, coarse and suitable for grates, warranted equal to the ship Louisa's cargo—will be sold if applied for while discharging. Apply to NEVERS & FRENCH, 65 Purchase street, or W. H. PRENTICE & SON, 43 Purchase street. oct 2

WANTED.—A young man to attend a W. I. Good store—o 20

He must be well acquainted with the business

Also, a man to work in a public institution—none but Americans need apply for the above.

Also, a boy to learn the tailor's trade. For the above apply at No 14 Milk st. epw—o 22

FRENCH COTTON BLANKETS.—ELIAS BREWER, at 414 Washington street, South End, has just received 2 cases of super fine French Cotton Blankets, which for durability and comfort are considered superior to the woolen, being also an excellent article for those who are troubled with rheumatic complaints. istf—sept 27

WANTED. in a wholesale and retail Shoe Store, an active lad 15 or 16 years of age. Also, a boy to learn the silver and brass Plating business. Apply at 4 Brattle square, o 20

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1834.

DEMOCRATIC REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

FOR GOVERNOR,

Hon. Marcus Morton, of Taunton.
FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
William W. Thompson, of Northampton.

FOR STATE SENATORS.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY,

JOHN WADE, of Woburn,
JOHN CLARK, of Watertown,
BURRAGE YALE, of South Reading,
THOMAS A. STAPLES, of Groton, and
WILLIAM LIVINGSTON, of Lowell.
WORCESTER COUNTY,
HENRY PRENTISS, of Hubbardston,
JOSEPH THAYER, of Uxbridge,
JOHN SPURR, of Charlton,
NATHANIEL RAND, of Lancaster,
ALEXANDER DE WITT, of Oxford, and
JOHN BOYENTON, of Templeton.BERKSHIRE COUNTY, DAVID CARSON, of Dalton, and
SAMUEL PICKETT, of Otis.

HAMPSHIRE COUNTY.

J. W. CROOKS, of Springfield, and GIDEON STYLES, of Southwick.

NORFOLK COUNTY.

EBENEZER SEAVIER, of Roxbury,
ABEL CUSHING, of Dorchester, and
GEORGE H. HOLBROOK, of Medway.

ESSEX COUNTY.

WILLIAM HAWKES, of Marblehead,
GEORGE SAVARY, of Bradford,
HENRY A. BREED, of Lynn,
DAVID PINGREE, of Salem,
THOMAS G. FARNsworth, of Haverhill, and
JOSIAH CALDWELL, of Ipswich.

FOR CONGRESS—DISTRICT

No. 2—JOSEPH S. CABOT, of Salem.
“ 3—GAYTON P. OSGOOD.
“ 4—JAMES RUSSELL, of West Cambridge.
“ 5—MATURIN L. FISHER, of Worcester.
“ 7—THEODORE SEDGWICK, of Stockbridge.
“ 8—OLIVER WARNER
“ 9—DANIEL THURBER, of Mendon.

This is the season for advertising, and in no paper, we can assure the business portion of the public, will their advertisements receive a more extended circulation than in the Post, should they think proper to use its columns for that purpose. Two thousand copies is the number of our Daily publication—not a morning paper in the city equals it.

A Grand Salute of ONE HUNDRED GUNS was fired at 3 o'clock, P. M., yesterday, by the democrats of this city, in response to one fired at the same time by their political brethren in New York, in honor of the recent glorious democratic triumphs in Maine, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Georgia.

The federalists are most pitifully chap-fallen, but there is no help for them—vain boastings generally result in mortification, if their authors possess any sensibility at all, which we must admit is rarely the case with our opponents, although there are some clever fellows among them. But, upon the whole, we think that the democrats are unconscionable in their rejoicings—their happy faces give the feds the horrors, while the noise of the guns which announce our triumphs make them rabid as a March hare. The New York boys must have a feast at Castle Garden, and the New Hampshire boys at Concord, before the sound of the late Bell dinner is done ringing in their heads—big guns are heard all over the country, and the revilers of Jefferson and Jackson are compelled to stop their ears and hang their heads—Mother Bank is done up—the goose that laid the golden eggs has been cut open, and her goslings (the young whigs) are wandering about the land forlorn and forsaken.

The spirit of the old democracy of 1804 is abroad and exercising its irresistible power among her favorites, the yeomanry of the country, whose "Huge Paws" are too vulgar to deposit a federal vote. The old Tory party, the Jay treaty party, the Assumption party, the Federal party, the Anti-war party, the Neutral party, the National Republican party, the Bank party, the Panic party, and lastly the Whig party, are where they found themselves upon the re-election of that "arch deceiver," (as the Courier calls him) THOMAS JEFFERSON—in a feeble minority, mistrusted by all honest and patriotic citizens. And why shouldn't they be?—they have pursued but one object since the foundation of the government—the attainment of power, regardless of means—they have been willing to adopt any code of principles, or support any set of measures to effect their purpose—power, power, has ever been the boon they sought; the distress of the people, the violation of their Constitution, and the jeopardy of the nation's peace and safety have all been in turn disregarded by them in their struggle for the darling object of their ambition. But they are now reaping the just reward of their conduct—their inconsistency, their hypocrisy, their imbecility, and their treachery, are all exposed. The sting is plucked from the viper and his lissies only excite the mirth of those he fain would poison.

The opposition are pretty essentially chawed up, and they will be swallowed before long.

More Distress.—There were forty-three foreign and coastwise clearances at this port, on Saturday last.

For the Boston Morning Post.

Gloucester, Oct. 25, 1834.

Mr Editor—I observed in the Gloucester Telegraph of this morning an assertion, contained in an editorial article, that I promised to appeal to David Henshaw, of Boston, in behalf of that paper, if it would come out in support of the Democratic party, and should not be supported by the party in this town—and that Mr Henshaw would advance a large sum for that purpose, if I should desire it.

If my own name only had been implicated in this statement, I would not have troubled you with this note, but the introduction of the name of another makes it my duty to set the matter right.

I pronounce the statement TOTALLY AND UNQUALIFIEDLY FALSE, and further say that I never promised or intimated that I would appeal to Mr Henshaw, or any other man, for the sum named, or for any other sum, in behalf of the Telegraph, in any event.

Respectfully yours, &c.

ROBERT RANTOUL, JR.

Abbot Lawrence, the Working Man.—On Thursday last we offered some remarks to the consideration of our fellow citizens, touching the validity of Mr Lawrence's claim to the title of working man—to do this faithfully it was necessary to go into the consideration of how he had employed his time and abilities, and with what end in view, and from the result to form our estimate.

When a man has arrived at Mr Lawrence's time of life, it is not very difficult for an observing man living in the same place with him, and looking back upon the course of life which he (Mr Lawrence) has pursued, to determine what has been his being's "end and aim;"—his history becomes almost "as a tale that is told," and reviewing his life, we unhesitatingly declared that Mr Lawrence had "early determined to build up, for himself and family, at the expense of the people, a princely fortune." The Courier, in commenting upon our remarks, which it will pardon us for saying it has done in no very courteous or gentlemanly manner, says:—"The Post of yesterday contained a most atrocious attack on the character of this gentleman." Abbot Lawrence—atrocious! yes, this has always been the cry; from the time when the poor serf first dared to hope for relief from vassalage up to the present hour, the efforts of the people after liberty and equal rights, even though sealed with their blood, have been always termed atrocious, by the united and banded powers of wealth and aristocracy.

The Courier asks, "does Junius mean to assert that Mr Lawrence has made, or even intended to make use of any means to build up a fortune, that any honorable merchant, or mechanic, or farmer would not adopt? Does he mean it should be understood that (he) Junius himself, or any of his friends who arranges himself in the ranks of the working men! would disdain to use the means that Mr Lawrence has used to build up a fortune? Junius has not impudence enough (large as his stock of that commodity may be) to declare directly that Mr Lawrence has not in all his operations as a merchant and a manufacturer, been guided by the most rigid laws of integrity and honor."

To all these questions we answer plainly and unequivocally, that without the aid of monopoly, Mr Lawrence never could have acquired the wealth that he has amassed in the last ten or twelve years; but this answer does not necessarily impeach Mr Lawrence's regard for "the most rigid laws of integrity and honor;" for it is a very remarkable thing to observe how rich men in the process of accumulation, deceive themselves as to the motives with which they act; the quo animo, then, must remain between Mr Lawrence and a higher tribunal than that of man; it is sufficient for us to know the fact that Mr Lawrence grew wealthy at the expense of the people, and that whether he knows it or not, the system which he supports is that which makes the rich man richer, and the poor man poorer.

We have said that Mr Lawrence was ambitious—but "the noble Buckingham hath told you" that it is not so; and now we think of it, we must have been mistaken, for it seems he has very often refused to serve in our Legislature, which shows conclusively that he was both republican and unabashed. Why Buckingham, the veriest dolt head in your party knows, or might know, that for years past Abbot Lawrence has had two proxies at Washington—one in the Senate, and the other in the House—our Legislature here was too small game for the man of millions. But the Courier says that Mr Lawrence will sacrifice several thousand dollars by representing us in Congress—pardon us, Mr Buckingham, but the assertion is mere moonshine—no man in this community knows better than Mr Lawrence does how to make out of an apparent loss a real gain.

The Lowell Regency, and Mr Lawrence's private interests, require that he should be in Congress, and what are "some thousands of dollars" in comparison with this? Twenty-five years, says the oracle, has Mr Lawrence been in business—well, be it so; now it undoubtedly took ten or twelve of these years, as we should think, for Mr Lawrence to arrive at the point of competence of which we spoke—a point from which only it would have been safe for him to start in his career of monopoly. We have asserted, and we repeat, that no man can grow so enormously rich in so short a time (as ten or twelve years) "without a monopoly," and why? Plainly because, if the ordinary channels of trade and commerce are open, as they should be to all, competition would long before the time we have mentioned render such great profits impossible—of fortunes made by a sudden speculation, and liable to be lost as suddenly, or sooner, as we can speak. In connexion with this subject will Mr Buckingham suffer us to hint that if he had a more intimate acquaintance with Adam Smith, Say, and other political economy writers, than merely to quote their names in a flippant paragraph, it would be better for him, and the community in which he lives.

It has been said, that whilst other editors received something substantial for their defense of the Bank, Mr Buckingham received only the honor which he acquired in the contest; what reward the party now have in store for him for his defense of Lawrence, we know not—but we would respectfully ask, whether the cap and bells do not best befit the man, who, in his defense of a candidate for office, accused of monopoly before the people, finds no other way to meet the charge, than the school-boy puerility of saying of our party, you have monopolized too. If every Republican throughout the country was a monopolist, (and Mr Buckingham, modest as he is, will not declare that they are so,) this would not meet the question with regard to Mr Lawrence.

Something we had intended to say, with regard to "poor Junius," but graver matters demand our attention—and flinging away "shadows" from our thoughts, we must come to realities. Let us to the point then—Mr Buckingham asks the Workingmen to vote for Abbot Lawrence, the man who supports the system which makes the rich man (himself) richer—the poor man poorer—do you ask how this is? We reply that there is no one thing more certain than this—that it is the tendency of all large manufacturing towns like Lowell, to reduce the price or value of labor, so that the ultimate point at which the laborer, the operative, and the mechanician arrive, is to get for their labor barely enough for subsistence. Temporary causes have hitherto retarded the operation of this tendency—these causes were the improvements in machinery, which are fast getting to be perfect—the value of cotton and other materials, which cannot be produced at a much lower rate, and the facility with which the operative could remove to the western country. But in process of time a manufacturing town acquires a large population, physically and morally indisposed for the hardy life of a western agriculturalist. At this period, machinery being perfect, materials being at their lowest rate, commences the reduction in the price of labor, which acts reciprocally upon all other kinds of labor, mechanic as well as operative.

This time must come, and if you ask who has done most to bring it as soon as possible, we answer, ANTHONY LAWRENCE. We entreat the voters of Suffolk, then, to pause, and ponder well before they vote for Mr Lawrence—let them think of him as representing a principle at war with their interests—for proud men will condescend, when they have an object in view. Turn your thoughts and your eyes towards England, the land where aristocracy flourishes—yes, and where manufacturing flourishes—see the laborer and operative working, thousands of them, for a sum less than nine pence per day. See them in the evening, repairing in crowds, with their wives and daughters, to the poisonous gin shops to seek a temporary forgetfulness of their misery, their rags, and their hunger, and then resolve, by your sympathy with their distress, by your abhorrence of the monied oppression which has ground them down to the dust, by your own hopes of honorable independence and usefulness, by the struggles and trials which liberty has endured, and by the precious blood shed in her cause, upon all these resolve, never to vote for the proud man and aristocrat. So shall "you, your wives, and your little ones live."

The Court Martial.—The examination of witnesses before the Court convened at the Navy Yard, Charles town, for the trial of Lieut. Bablitt, on charges preferred against him by Com. Elliott, was concluded on Saturday, and we learn that the proceedings will be read, and the defense made, on Wednesday morning. The Court will assemble at 10 o'clock.—Ibid.

Catholic Schools.—Upwards of two hundred girls receive instruction daily from the "Sisters of Charity," at their residence in Hamilton street.—Ibid.

POLICE COURT.

Robert Carthy entertained an opinion somewhat derogatory to the character of his neighbor's wife, and took an opportunity on Sunday evening of expressing it in terms too uncouth to be repeated to ears polite, and drew down upon himself the combined wrath of the whole family, male and female—who made a simultaneous attack upon him with stones, brickbats, and fire-irons, till they left him lying in Stillman street, for dead. Some time afterwards, an officer happened to pass that way, and had him removed from the street, where he would soon have died, to the jail. In the morning, he was complained against as a drunkard, it being supposed that the senseless condition in which he was found on Sunday evening, was owing to intoxication, but the facts appearing in evidence as above, he was permitted to depart. His head was cut in two places, and there was a severe wound on his right eye, and his whole mangled outer man, proved that he had been most effectually punished for impeaching the lady's character.

Ephraim Perkins's person wore all the characteristics of a drunkard—his very hat and outer habiliments—they could hardly be called clothes—appeared to be drunk. To take him all in all, he looked like a wet rag crushed into a wisp, to stop the bung of a beer barrel. Eph thought some allowance should be made for a first appearance in court, in any character. Engaged for 3 months, to perform on oakum picking and stone cracking, at the house of erection.

Daniel Eldredge occupied two sides of the sidewalk, but made but little headway, in beating up Portland street. A part of the time he imagined himself boxing with some phantom, and his arms flew about like the sails of a windmill, scaring several women and children from the pavement. He also swore he'd "set fire to Boston and New York." He attempted to explain these vagaries, by saying—"I expect I was in liquor at the time;" but the proof was conclusive that the liquor was in him, and he was bound over to keep the peace.

Asa Allen, a Canton cobbler, with long straight hair, brushed as smooth as a lap-stone, and a liberal Quaker-built coat, could get no ardent at home, so came to Boston, where he tried some beer, but was obliged to top off with some rum, to keep the beer down. Soon after, he fell in with a watchman, whom he saluted with a loud yell, and made a pass at his nose, for telling him to keep quiet.—U. S. Phil. Gaz.

A Rich Reward.—The truth of the proverb that "there is nothing lost by doing a charitable action," is forcibly exemplified by a correspondent of the Christian Advocate and Journal, which furnishes a sketch of I. C. a respectable member of the Society of Friends.—This individual, it appears, at the age of eighteen, walked forty miles to put himself apprentice to a certain trade; a ferry intervened, and he had no money to pay the fare, but a kind-hearted woman lent him four-pence. He learned his trade, and experienced various vicissitudes of fortune, until he finally settled in New York, where he amassed a large fortune, and retired from business. In gratitude to the woman who had lent him four-pence, he schooled all her children, and gave her a pension of one hundred dollars per annum, which, by a provision in his will, she is to receive during her life. This is more than compound interest on the sum originally lent.

Steamboat Accident.—Yesterday about half past seven o'clock, the steamboat John Mason, running between Albany and Troy, and at low water serving as tender to the Troy and Erie Line, while placing her passengers on board of the Albany, near the dam, below the overslaugh, had her engine thrown down, and otherwise damaged, by being run into by the steamboat Nimrod, which was following on behind. The Albany and Mason were hooked together coming down, under a full pressure of steam, the Nimrod close behind, when suddenly the Mason and Albany turned where the channel was very narrow, to cut the Nimrod's passage off, and the latter boat being under too much headway, it was impossible to stop her, and the accident was therefore the result. The Nimrod also sustained some trifling damage.

—N. Y. Star.

Old Wine.—A bottle of Madeira was picked up recently from the wreck of the Royal George, sunk at Spithead in 1780, having been 54 years under water. It was in excellent condition, though covered with sea shells.

It has been correctly ascertained that in London there are upwards of 80,000 females who depend upon crime for subsistence, and 15,000 orphan girls, without home and shelter, who live also by the same fresh supply.

This is in the true spirit of the Bank party. The Boston Courier tells about the "swinish multitude" of the farmers, and their adaptation to the "muck rake"—and its little namesake at Northampton follows its example, and compares two-thirds of the legal voters in the Union to a drove of swine, either of whom might well be ashamed to own him for a brother. This slang about the "swinish multitude," the "common people," and their "huge paws," is as old as the federal party, and has ever formed one of their principal weapons—harmless, to be sure, but not the less indicative of the spirit and feelings which prompts its use. We believe it was President John Adams who said we should never see good times in this country, "until the poor men were obliged to work all day for a sheep's head and pluck," or something to that effect—and if we may judge by the "signs of the times," the Bank party of the present day not only believe in the doctrine, but are about to carry it into force. When the contest between the "huge paws," and the delicate fingers is once commenced, it needs no prophetic power to tell which will be victorious.

This is in the true spirit of the Bank party. The Boston Courier tells about the "swinish multitude" of the farmers, and their adaptation to the "muck rake"—and its little namesake at Northampton follows its example, and compares two-thirds of the legal voters in the Union to a drove of swine, either of whom might well be ashamed to own him for a brother. This slang about the "swinish multitude," the "common people," and their "huge paws," is as old as the federal party, and has ever formed one of their principal weapons—harmless, to be sure, but not the less indicative of the spirit and feelings which prompts its use. We believe it was President John Adams who said we should never see good times in this country, "until the poor men were obliged to work all day for a sheep's head and pluck," or something to that effect—and if we may judge by the "signs of the times," the Bank party of the present day not only believe in the doctrine, but are about to carry it into force. When the contest between the "huge paws," and the delicate fingers is once commenced, it needs no prophetic power to tell which will be victorious.

At the Circuit Court of the United States, now in session in Boston, Andrew Dunlap, Esq., the District Attorney, yesterday submitted a motion, "That the Court and its Officers wear cravat on the left arm during the present term of the court, as a testimony of respect and regard for the memory and character of John Watson Davis, Esq., deceased, and late a Clerk of their Honors." The motion was carried.

At the Circuit Court of the United States, now in session in Boston, Andrew Dunlap, Esq., the District Attorney, yesterday submitted a motion, "That the Court and its Officers wear cravat on the left arm during the present term of the court, as a testimony of respect and regard for the memory and character of John Watson Davis, Esq., deceased, and late a Clerk of their Honors." The motion was carried.

At the Circuit Court of the United States, now in session in Boston, Andrew Dunlap, Esq., the District Attorney, yesterday submitted a motion, "That the Court and its Officers wear cravat on the left arm during the present term of the court, as a testimony of respect and regard for the memory and character of John Watson Davis, Esq., deceased, and late a Clerk of their Honors." The motion was carried.

At the Circuit Court of the United States, now in session in Boston, Andrew Dunlap, Esq., the District Attorney, yesterday submitted a motion, "That the Court and its Officers wear cravat on the left arm during the present term of the court, as a testimony of respect and regard for the memory and character of John Watson Davis, Esq., deceased, and late a Clerk of their Honors." The motion was carried.

At the Circuit Court of the United States, now in session in Boston, Andrew Dunlap, Esq., the District Attorney, yesterday submitted a motion, "That the Court and its Officers wear cravat on the left arm during the present term of the court, as a testimony of respect and regard for the memory and character of John Watson Davis, Esq., deceased, and late a Clerk of their Honors." The motion was carried.

At the Circuit Court of the United States, now in session in Boston, Andrew Dunlap, Esq., the District Attorney, yesterday submitted a motion, "That the Court and its Officers wear cravat on the left arm during the present term of the court, as a testimony of respect and regard for the memory and character of John Watson Davis, Esq., deceased, and late a Clerk of their Honors." The motion was carried.

At the Circuit Court of the United States, now in session in Boston, Andrew Dunlap, Esq., the District Attorney, yesterday submitted a motion, "That the Court and its Officers wear cravat on the left arm during the present term of the court, as a testimony of respect and regard for the memory and character of John Watson Davis, Esq., deceased, and late a Clerk of their Honors." The motion was carried.

At the Circuit Court of the United States, now in session in Boston, Andrew Dunlap, Esq., the District Attorney, yesterday submitted a motion, "That the Court and its Officers wear cravat on the left arm during the present term of the court, as a testimony of respect and regard for the memory and character of John Watson Davis, Esq., deceased, and late a Clerk of their Honors." The motion was carried.

At the Circuit Court of the United States, now in session in Boston, Andrew Dunlap, Esq., the District Attorney, yesterday submitted a motion, "That the Court and its Officers wear cravat on the left arm during the present term of the court, as a testimony of respect and regard for the memory and character of John Watson Davis, Esq., deceased, and late a Clerk of their Honors." The motion was carried.

At the Circuit Court of the United States, now in session in Boston, Andrew Dunlap, Esq., the District Attorney, yesterday submitted a motion, "That the Court and its Officers wear cravat on the left arm during the present term of the court, as a testimony of respect and regard for the memory and character of John Watson Davis, Esq., deceased, and late a Clerk of

A RARE CHANCE FOR BREEDERS OF STOCK, AND ADMIRERS OF FINE ANIMALS.—The stock of a fine Young Cow, and Bull Calf, both of the most approved breed. The cow is a very great milkier, gentle, &c, and presumed to be as good and as handsome as any other in the State. The premium for helpers was awarded to her at Brighton in 1832—her calf is now three months old, well weaned, and of an uncommonly fine appearance, sired by a famous bull, the property of Wm. Worthington, Esq. of Dorchester.

The only inducement with the subscriber in offering these animals for sale is to reduce the number of his stock to the supply of his farm.

TREMONT THEATRE.

LAST NIGHT BUT ONE OF MR BOOTH.

THIS EVENING, October 28, will be presented previous to the Tragedy the favorite Comic piece, in one act, called the

MARRIED BACHELOR!

Sir Chas. Colvill, Mr Smith
Lady Courtall, Miss McBride

After which the celebrated Tragedy of

RICHARD III. Or—The Battle of Bosworth Field.

RICHARD, MR BOOTH
Earl of Richmond, Mr Smith
Queen Elizabeth, Mrs Hughes
Lady Anne, Mrs Smith

To conclude with the favorite Farce of the

SECRET!

Dupuis, Mr Blake
Angelice, Miss Lane

Or—A Hole in the Wall.

*<sup>o</sup> Doors open at 6 o'clock. Performance commence at 6:30 o'clock.

To conclude with the Laughable Farce, called

CROSSING THE LINE!

To-morrow evening MR J. WALLACK'S first appearance.

*<sup>o</sup> Doors open at 6 o'clock. Performance commence at 6:30 o'clock.

*<sup>o</sup> Prices, for 2d and 2d Tiers of Boxes $1. Third Tier of Boxes 75 cents. Fit 50 cents. Gallery 25 cents.

REMOVAL AND DISSOLUTION—RUFUS L. H. would acquaint his friends and customers that he has removed from 251 Washington street to 242, the same street, (a few rods south of Summer street, at the sign of the Golden Comb,) where may be found a fashionable assortment of Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Spectacles, Combs, Perfumery and Fancy Goods, at the very lowest cash prices.

N. B. Repairing of Watches, Jewelry, Spectacles, &c, attended to by myself—charges moderate.

1p 623

NOTICE—The Partnership heretofore existing under the firm of R. L. BRUCE, & CO., was, on the 10th inst. dissolved by mutual consent.

R. L. BRUCE,
V. MARTIN.

FOR SALE—A house in Vine street—a house in Eaton street.

Two houses in Front street.

A house on Fort Hill.

A house at Charlestown.

A farm and buildings in Haverhill, Mass.

Maine, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, and Texas Lands.

J. A. SILLOWAY,
628 istf No 18 Exchange street.

NOTICE—Two persons intending to visit Cincinnati and St Louis the present winter, would offer their services to transact any business entrusted to their care. Inquire of the following gentlemen, to whom also they have liberty to refer:

John Tyler, Josiah Stickney,
Perkins & Littlehale, Mansfield & Bigelow,
James Vila, Allen & Ticknor. 628

TO BE LET—Part of a pleasant genteel brick House, No 46 Carver st.—consisting of a front parlor and large china closet, convenient kitchen, bedroom, and three chambers, a dry cellar, &c—rent reasonable, for the payment of which good security will be required— inquire at said house.

Open from 7 o'clock, A. M. till 9 P. M. 628

BOSTON AND WORCESTER RAILROAD, extending to Hopkinton, 24 miles.

500 FEATHER BEDS.—JOHN G. FLAGG corner of Union and Marshall streets, has on hand and for sale 500 Feather Beds, at prices from $10 to $15— together with a large assortment of Hair Mattresses. Purchasers are particularly invited to call.

4f 628

NOTICE—A first rate practical Accountant and Bookkeeper, who has had much experience in business, is desirous of an engagement with some merchant at the South or West—any communication, addressed to L. M. N. and at No 19 Exchange st, will be attended to.

1stf 628

NOVELTIES OF A TRAVELLER; or Odds and Ends, from the knapsack of Thomas Singularity, Journeyman Printer; edited by Henry Thoms Knott; in two vols. Just published and for sale by B. B. MUSSEY, 29 Cornhill.

o 23

WANTED, a first rate Sheet Iron and Tin Plate worker—first rate wages will be given—no one need offer to B. BENNEY, Jr. Blackstone street, 4th floor, from Ann street.

epistf 628

WANTED—An intelligent and active boy, as an Apprentice to the book-binding business. Inquire of MARSH, CAPEK & LYON, 133 Washington st. 2w—o 28

BOY WANTED—From fourteen to sixteen years of age, in a Jewelry Store—inquire at this office.

oct 28 3t

DOG LOST.—Lost, on Sunday, 19th Oct, a Black Newfound Land Dog, with a cut tail; his hair is smooth and long, and all of his feet are tipped with white; there is also a streak of white under his throat; he wore a chain collar, with the owner's name and 22 Mount Vernon engraved on it; he answers to the name of Turk. Whoever has found said Dog and will leave him at No. 22 Mount Vernon Street, or give information where he may be found, at this office, shall receive the thanks of the owner and a satisfactory reward.

627

$20 REWARD.—Lost, on Thursday last, between the hours of one and three, P. M. probably in the line between the British Consulate and the Exchange, a small paper parcel, containing three or four English Law Papers, of no possible use to any person but the proper owners. Who will restore the same to the City Crier, Exchange buildings, or at the counting room of A. Aspinwall, Esq. No 69 Broad st, shall receive the above reward.

o 27

ARTMENTS TO LET.—A gentleman and his wife, or a small family without young children, can be accommodated with pleasant and convenient apartments and board, in a very central situation. Apply at No 65 Congress street.

Streets 627

GENERAL JACKSON.—“The Life of Andrew Jackson, President of the United States,” by William Cobbett. In a large sheet, folded in pocket-form. $6 per hundred.

This edition contains the whole of the work, as published by the author. For sale at this Office.

o 27

SLIT IRON AND NAILS.—ODIORNE & SON, 97 Milk street, have, constantly on hand, a large assortment of Slit Iron.

Also—Brad and Tack Plates, Hoops, Axletree Moulds, Cut Nails, &c.

o 27

REMOVAL.—T. R. CLARK, respectfully informs his friends and the public that he has removed from under the New England Museum, No 69, to No 55 Court street, nearly opposite the Court House, where he will keep constantly on hand a good assortment of gold, silver, shell and steel mounted Spectacles; gold, silver and pearl Reading Eye Glasses, the latest English patterns; Goggles, Spirit Levels, Thermometers, Cloth and Linen Provers, variety of patterns.

Also, on hand a large assortment of glasses, variety of colors.

No Spectacles manufactured at the above establishment of the latest patterns, workmanship equal to any in this country. Spectacles and Thermometers, repaired at short notice, lower than can be done elsewhere.

o 25

ASSESSORS' NOTICE.—Notice is given that LILLY, WAIT & CO., on the 22d instant, assigned their stock and effects to the undersigned for the benefit of such of their creditors as shall become parties to the Indenture of Assignment within forty days from said date. All persons interested are invited to examine and subscribe said indenture, which will be exhibited to the public with the Assessors.

CHARLES P. CURTIIS, No 16 Court st.

HENRY WILLIS, No 65 Congress st.

epistf 24

PARTRIDGE'S ORIGINAL LEATHER PRESERVATIVE, or OIL BLACKLING, a patent composition for cleaning, nourishing, preserving and renewing the color of Leather—rendering it soft, pliable, and elastic, and when completely filled, impenetrable by the wet.

A liberal discount made to dealers.

This article may be had of the principal Booksellers, Hardware dealers, Shoe and Leather dealers, and generally at the country stores.

Also—wholesalers and retail by JOHN H. ROGERS, No 50 Court st, Boston, who is the General Agent for the Manufacturer.

24wSmis 616

CAUTION.—Whereas the Subscriber gratuitously and without any consideration, made and deposited in the hands of the public that she shall continue in Blacksmith business, in all its branches, at the stand lately occupied by Bradford & Gardner, and hopes by assiduity and attention to business to merit patronage. Particular attention will be paid to the Master of horses and ironing of carriages.

REPROPOSALS FOR STONE. Proposals will be received at the Mayor and Aldermen's room, City Hall, until Tuesday next, at 9 o'clock, A. M. for all the Stone necessary for the construction of the new House of Reformation at South Boston; the cellar walls to be of dimension stone, and to be of ten inches to one foot thick; the other walls to be of rough ashlar, to be no less than one foot in height, and to be from ten inches to one foot thick, and backed with rubble. The contractor to commence the delivery of the stone at South Boston immediately after the contract is made, and to continue the same as fast as it is required.

By order of the Building Committee,

1stf 24 4t S. F. MCLEARY, City Clerk.

TAXES.—Notice is hereby given, that all the Taxes assessed upon the Inhabitants of Boston for the present year, will be due on the 1st day of November. Such as may not then be paid will be subject to costs.

RICHARD D. HARRIS, C. & C. Treas.

o 18—tni

DEER ISLAND.—Proposals will be received at the Mayor and Aldermen's Room, City Hall, within ten days, from persons wishing to hire Deer Island, as our port thereof.

By order of the Mayor and Aldermen.

Oct 22 4t S. F. McCLEARY, City Clerk

NOTICE.—Notice is hereby given, that the connexion in business heretofore existing between the subscribers, under the firm of Bradford & Gardner, is by mutual consent this day dissolved.

JAMES Bradford, HENRY Gardner.

ROxbury, Oct. 20, 1834.

epistf

NOTICE.—The subscriber respectfully informs his friends and the public that he shall continue in Blacksmith business, in all its branches, at the stand lately occupied by Bradford & Gardner, and hopes by assiduity and attention to business to merit patronage. Particular attention will be paid to the Master of horses and ironing of carriages.

Also—Spectacles manufactured at the above establishment of the latest patterns, workmanship equal to any in this country. Spectacles and Thermometers, repaired at short notice, lower than can be done elsewhere.

o 25

ASSESSORS' NOTICE.—Notice is given that LILLY, WAIT & CO., on the 22d instant, assigned their stock and effects to the undersigned for the benefit of such of their creditors as shall become parties to the Indenture of Assignment within forty days from said date. All persons interested are invited to examine and subscribe said indenture, which will be exhibited to the public with the Assessors.

CHARLES P. CURTIIS, No 16 Court st.

HENRY WILLIS, No 65 Congress st.

epistf 24

CARDENING.—JAMES COLLINS takes the liberty of returning his sincere thanks to the public for the favors conferred on him, and still continues Jobbing Gardening, and would be happy to furnish the orders of the citizens of Boston.

Every attention may be relied on as to punctuality and work.

Apply to No 3 Harvard Place, opposite the Old South Church.

Boquets furnished at the shortest notice.

Oct 24

PARLOR ORGAN.—For sale, at PENDLETON'S, 209 Washington street, an extra Parlor Organ, of superior tone and workmanship, having 8 stops, viz.—base, stop, double bassoon, open diapason treble, principal, flute, dulciana, and 2 reed stops on a new principle. It contains a double action and swell, 2 pedals for blowing, and is enclosed in an elegant rosewood case.

3t 625

STORE TO BE LET.—Store No 32 Union street, calculated for Furniture, or W. I. goods, having a good cellar. Apply to A. COTTING, in Joy's Buildings.

epistf

STORES TO LET.—Three first rate locations for wholesale business of any description, being the 4th, 5th, and 6th stories from Merchants' Row and numbered 52, 53 and 54 on Chestnut street.

Inquire of JOHN P. THORNDIKE. 1s2w—o 25

THE EXHIBITION of the MYSTERIOUS LADY, on account of prior engagements of the Hall, is postponed until TUESDAY & WEDNESDAY EVENINGS next, which will conclude her performance in this city.

o 25

WANTED.—A situation by a young man, whose parents reside in the city, as a Merchant's Apprentice. A competent knowledge of business being the object, salary will be secondary. Apply at 18 Exchange st.

o 25

SANDWICH SETTS.—Gold band and plain white China Sandwich Setts—a new, beautiful and very convenient article—just received and for sale at PIERCE'S China Store, 370 Washington corner of Essex street. 3tisost—o 22

DANCING.—MR BOWELLS School at Mr Walker's, in the Charlottown square, Tuesday and Thursday evenings, from 7 till 10 o'clock, for those who have previously learned to dance—the new beginners will please to come at 6 o'clock, and receive their lessons before the others begin—for further particulars, inquire of Mr R. at the Hall. 1s—o 10

TO BE LET.—A store in Charlestown, situated corner of Maine and Franklin streets, suitable for W. I. Goods, or Mechanics— inquire of CHARLES DAVIDSON, No 4 Franklin street, Charlestown. Dr. Wm. will attend to the office, P. through the Post Office. 1f

o 18

REMOVAL.—JOHN G. WYMAN, Merchant Tailor, has removed from No 8 Court street to 71 Washington street, Brooks' new block, directly opposite the Post Office.

oct

NATHANIEL P. SNELLING, No. 10 Congress st., will make to order, if called for, soon a few pieces of Cloths, well adapted for surtouts, in the most fashionable manner, or $20.

o 21—epistf

OLDHAM'S SHERRY WINE.—A few packages just received, and entitled to discount—for sale by JAMES LEEDS, Jr. & CO.

1m 15 Long wharf.

o 21

KAPPA PHI BETA—A Society for the

